The mission of San Diego Habitat for Humanity is to eliminate substandard, poverty housing from our community. We believe that decent housing is a matter of conscience and action.

Women Build is a Habitat for Humanity International program that encourages women to make a difference by building homes and communities. Since the program was launched in 1998, over 1,750 homes have been built worldwide, including three built in San Diego County. This year, women in San Diego County will build a home in National City in partnership with a family in need. Each volunteer commits to raise at least $100 to build the home.
